SUGAR AVAILABLE TO PRESERVE FRUIT

Following wire is received from Washington:

"It has come to the attention of the Food Administrators that in some cases fruit is actually going to waste that should be preserved. We cannot be too careful to impress upon the people that sugar is available for all legitimate requirements for canning and preserving of fruit and vegetables. Unfortunately if any fruit or vegetables are allowed to waste because of lack of sugar. Rather would we take from our November and December allotment sufficient sugar to meet necessary requirements of September and October."

"It has also been called to the attention of the Food Administration that in many communities housewives, not realizing the seriousness of the sugar situation, are aggravating it by not co-operating with the two pound per person per month rationing, and more than that they are carrying in their households quantities beyond the week's requirements, which, while the amounts in individual cases are generally small, in the aggregate represent many thousand pounds in the state of New York. As a patriotic duty every householder is urged to support faithfully the Food Administration in its endeavors to make the present supply of sugar carry us over until the new sugar comes in."

"In regard to wheat. There has been no change in the ruling for bakers or householders, the 50-50 rule applying to householders."

W. C. SHAVER.

MORE COOLING DRINKS.

For drinks that are both nourishing and refreshingly cool, egg lemonade is probably the most popular. Make the lemonade in the usual way, add a beaten egg and serve, well fed, not forgetting a pinch of salt to remove the flat taste of the egg.

Koumiks.—Koumiks is another food drink which is most wholesome. It was originally made in Arabia from mare's milk, but is commonly made by using cow's milk. It is most easily digested; often a weak stomach which cannot digest any other food will retain koumiks. To make it heat a quart of milk to 70 degrees or lukewarm, add a third of a yeast cake dissolved in one and a half tablespoonfuls of water, add two tablespoonfuls of sugar; place in bottles after mixing well and tie down the corks. Let stand ten hours in a warm place for the yeast to grow and cause fermentation, then place on ice to check it.

Mint Cup.—Express the juice from five lemons, using a glass squeezer; add the leaves from a dozen stalks of mint, one and a half cupfuls of sugar or honey and a half cupful of water; cover and let stand 30 minutes. Just before serving pour into a pitcher over a large piece of ice and add three bottles of chilled ginger ale. Put a sprig of mint in each glass when serving.

Pineapple Lemonade.—Make a syrup by boiling together one cupful of sugar and two cupfuls of water for ten minutes; add the juice of three lemons and a can of grated pineapple; cool, strain and add a quart of ice water.

Raspberry shrub makes a most delicious drink; add a tablespoonful of the shrub to a glass of ice water to serve it.

Fruit beverages are cooling and slightly stimulating; as there is no limit to the variety of combinations one may always have something different.

Iced Tea.—To make tea that is palatable prepare the tea, scalding the pot and pouring fresh boiled water over the leaves, using a tablespoonful to a pint of water; strain over ice and chill. Serve as soon as cold enough with a bit of lemon, a cube of sugar and a sprig of mint.

Full Explanation.

Jack received a small tool chest for his birthday. Daddy had explained to him the names and uses of each tool. Later he had a neighbor in and was extolling the virtues of his set. "Just look what I got—a hammer to hammer with; a saw to saw with; a hatchet to chop with," (after examining very closely the monkey wrench) "Well, Bob, this is not a regular tool. It's a ——— (then, as the name dawned upon him) wrench to monkey with."

Packers' Profits Are Regulated

The public should understand that the profits of the packers have been limited by the Food Administration since November 1, 1917. For this purpose, the business of Swift & Company is now divided into three classes:

Class 1 includes such products as beef, pork, mutton, oleomargarine and others that are essentially animal products. Profits are limited to 9 per cent of the capital employed in these departments, (including surplus and borrowed money), or not to exceed two and a half cents on each dollar of sales.

Class 2 includes the soap, glue, fertilizer, and other departments more or less associated with the meat business. Many of these departments are in competition with outside businesses whose profits are not limited. Profits in this class are restricted to 15 per cent of the capital employed.

Class 3 includes outside investments, such as those in stock yards, and the operation of packing plants in foreign countries. Profits in this class are not limited.

Total profits for all departments together in 1918 will probably be between three and four per cent on an increased volume of sales.

The restrictions absolutely guarantee a reasonable relation between live stock prices and wholesale meat prices, because the packer's profit can not possibly average more than a fraction of a cent per pound of product.

Since the profits on meat (Class 1) are running only about 2 cents on each dollar of sales, we have to depend on the profits from soap, glue, fertilizer (Class 2, also limited) and other departments, (Class 3) to obtain reasonable earnings on capital.

Swift & Company is conducting its business so as to come within these limitations.

POULTRY FACTS.

BREEDING POULTRY IN YARDS

More Difficult Than Keeping Small Flock of Hens for Eggs for Family Table.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The average city family will, perhaps, do best by keeping hens for eggs alone, but a considerable degree of success can be attained in breeding poultry in back yards and in many instances it may be desirable.

By breeding poultry is meant mating a male and one or more females to reproduce the parent type; hatching the young, and so rearing them that they will attain the full development of good typical specimens of their race. In a small way this can be done in quite a limited space. It is more difficult than keeping a small flock of hens for eggs for the table, or growing a few chickens for the table in the same space, but with regular attention and good care very satisfactory results are obtained. Good work under adverse conditions often gives better results than poor work under good conditions.

The smallest breeding pen for work on this scale and with only one mating should have a male and two females. With two hens, the pen will provide eggs for hatching at the rate of a sitting every week or ten days, thus making it possible to set all eggs while the germ is strong. If a small flock is kept also for eggs for the table, hens from that flock may be used to hatch and brood the chickens. If the laying hens lay eggs of a different color from those laid by the breeding hens, all may be kept together. The layers may not produce as many eggs while fed as breeders should be, but there is a saving in space and work, and the net result may be as good as if more eggs were secured.

Rations for breeding stock differ from laying rations in that much smaller proportions of commercial animal foods are used, and special attention is given to supplying green feed regularly and abundantly. Heavy egg production is not desired. The object is to have the birds in perfect physical condition and at the height of vitality, that they may more surely transmit these qualities to their offspring.

The greatest difficulty in back-yard breeding is rearing the young birds to secure their best development. As growing birds are more susceptible to adverse conditions than mature birds, and birds in close confinement are less rugged than those at liberty, the back-yard breeder must give the most scrupulous attention to every detail of the care of his young chickens. Short-comings which might have no bad consequences with the adult birds, or with young chickens under more favorable conditions, may have very serious ill effects upon his young stock. However, by looking properly after all their wants and taking care not to overcrowd them in any way, fine specimens may be grown in yards where the space allowance is not more than 20 to 30 square feet per bird.

MAKING BEST USE OF GRAIN

All Old Hens and Poorly Developed Chickens Should Be Cull'd Out and Sold for Meat.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

If efforts were made to dispose of all hens when their best laying days were over a large quantity of poultry meat would be placed on the market. All poorly developed chickens should be culled out and sold for meat, also. This would allow the poultry keeper to make the best use of his grain by feeding it to younger and more productive fowls.

Feather Pulling Habit.

Feather pulling is a vice peculiar to fowls in confinement and is due almost entirely to enforced idleness, though a lack of animal food in the ration may intensify the trouble.

No Appreciable Loss.

In New Jersey a man recently smoked cigarettes an entire day without any particular harm resulting. The only visible effect was the death of the smoker.—Boston Transcript.

Poultry Raising Under Such Conditions While Profitable, Requires More Attention Than Where Greater Space Is Available.

Time doth transfix the flourish set on youth.—Shakespeare ("Midsummer Night's Dream").

Not one of us would be happy if we assumed another's place. We are fitted only for our own little world, and it remains with us to make that tiny sphere what it ought to be. This we may do if we keep cheerful, do our best and think only wholesome thoughts. Otherwise we simply will not, no matter what we may eventually possess, be happy, and the quicker we acknowledge the truth of the assertion the better it will be for ourselves and for all concerned.

Great Acts Live Long.

A great act does not perish with the life of the man who performed it: it lives and grows up into the lives and acts of those who survive him and cherish his memory.—General Sir William Robertson.

Couldn't Have Worried Much.

Before he died at the age of ninety-six years, the oldest member of the British parliament said that he had no secret formula for the prolongation of life, except it might be that he never bothered about his health, he smoked and he ate and drank what pleased him most. It's quite evident that he was an honorary member of the Don't Worry club.

Man's Handicap.

"Mere man was placed under a handicap shortly after creation," said the near-cynic. "Dye had the snake to fall back on when she wanted to make her husband jealous, but poor Adam didn't have a soul." Which makes us positive that Eve was the original snake charmer.—Indianapolis Star.

Just a Little Too Much.

Young Fiddle was a very learned young man, and his friends were all very disappointed, not surprised, when he refused to accept a degree of doctor of divinity. His colleagues tackled him on the subject. "Ah, well," replied the learned young man. "It's enough to be named Fiddle, without being Fiddle, D. D."

Modern Version.

While little Helen was at Sunday school they repeated the Twenty-third Psalm and when she arrived home, her mother asked her what she had learned that day. Helen replied without hesitation: "The Lord is my chauffeur, I shall not walk."

POLITICS NOT ADJOURNED.

The renomination of Representative Huddleston of the ninth Alabama district in the Democratic primaries, which is equivalent to reelection is significant. Though President Wilson had expressed the sentiment that politics had been or should be adjourned for the period of the war, he is understood to have strongly objected by letter to the renomination of Mr. Huddleston. Doubtless there was good reason for objection to Mr. Huddleston in view of his record. In the Sixty-Fourth Congress he voted against the Kahn amendment to the Hay bill, which aimed to bring the army up to the recommendations of the General Staff; against an increase in the naval appropriation; and for the Cooper amendment which would have prohibited American ships from exercising their legal right of carrying arms or ammunition in their cargoes. In the present Congress he voted against the Kahn amendment to the conscription act providing for raising by draft the army demanded by our declaration of war.

Manifestly this is not a record to appeal to the advocates of a determined and vigorous fighting America. It can hardly be forgotten in the ninth Alabama district yet Mr. Huddleston has been renominated. It is barely possible that the ninth Alabama district prefers to do its voting without suggestion or assistance from a distance and that the voters of this section of an anti-suffrage State were thinking less of Huddleston's record than of the President's efforts to push through a nation-wide woman suffrage amendment. The anti-suffrage States remember that the President formerly contended that they should be left free to choose for themselves in this matter and perhaps they resent his later conversion to the forces determined to make Congress choose for them.

HUN HYDROPHOBIA.

Nobody but a German can understand German policies and the capacity is apt to be lost even by the German-born who have lived long enough among sane people in a free country. Perhaps nobody is more amazed and outraged by the U-boat attacks in American waters than loyal citizens of German extraction. If the U-boats could check our transport of soldiers to France or other wise seriously damage our shipping, it would be possible to respect the effort even while condemning the means; but the exploits of the few submarines Germany is able to send against us suggest mere flea bites that foolishly annoy and irritate a tiger capable of furious resentment and deadly rage.

What can the Germans expect to gain by their puny and ineffectual submarine efforts in our waters? What will it profit them to sink a few fishing boats and lightships or to send a floating raft of poisonous gas into an undefended minor port? Have they not intelligence enough to know that all they are accomplishing is to steel the heart of the great American nation against them and to strengthen its determination to make them beg for peace upon their knees? The infamous gas attack at the mouth of the Cape Fear River in North Carolina is typical of the facility and ferocity of their performances; for, while none of the affected coast guard men will die and only a few chickens succumbed, a mighty nation has been made only the more formidable in its righteous indignation.

When the Kaiser's brother ventured to describe the retreat from St. Marne as a German victory the Munich Post is said to have commented: "It is painful to see private persons in prominent positions, like Prince Henry, trying to represent facts in a manner at variance with the truth." If the decorated and distinguished German public is beginning to give royalty the lie, Hun autocracy may be said to be on its last legs.

"It would be a mistake," a German satirist is quoted, "to consider the American effort as a bluff. Their spirit is such that this highly developed nation has formally decided to give all its fortune and its blood by dedicating all its working facilities to the struggle against Germany." The Swiss have eyes to "see a church by daylight" even if the Germans are still too blind.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

She—"How is your youngest daughter getting on with her music?" He—"Splendidly! Her teacher says she plays Mozart in a way that Mozart himself would never dream of."—Boston Transcript.

"What's the proletariat, pa?" "It's that part of Russia they're all fighting so about. You ought to be ashamed of yourself not to read the papers, son, about what's doing in the world."—Baltimore American.

"My wife doesn't like to use the telephone." "Why not?" "On account of the telephone girls." "I find them accommodating." "Well, it jars her to have to get another woman's permission before she can talk."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"How are you going to celebrate George Washington's birthday?" "Well," replied Senator Gough, "it is too late to add to his personal comfort or to contribute anything to his reputation, so I don't believe I'll undertake any special demonstrations in the matter."—Washington Star.

Insult to the Donkey.

"My donkey's name!" explained the peasant, scratching his head. "He hasn't got one."

"Then call him Albert!"

"That would be a reflection on my king."

"Call him William, then."

"That would be a reflection on my donkey."—Exchange.

Going to See it Through.

A southern man tells of a colored mother, living in a country district of Georgia, who was induced by her ten year old child to take him to the circus in a town near their home. She borrowed a wagon and a mule and set out with her offspring for the circus. The roads were bad—it had rained—and the youngster was frightfully fidgety. Finally the tired mother exclaimed:

"See heah, you Enamus! Yo' sit still! I've druv yo' 10 miles to enjoy dis circus an' you shall en'y it, ef I has to pull ebbery hair out er yo' haid."—Everybody's Magazine.

Betting on a Sure Thing.

The town booster had just finished telling how good a shot he was with a rifle. The oldest citizen declared that he would bet a 10-spot that he couldn't hit a barn door at 100 yards. Soon afterward the boastful young man returned from the vicinity of the barn with a disgruntled look.

"What's the matter, Tom?" asked a friend. "Didn't you hit it?"

"Naw!" exclaimed the shooter. "He turned the door edge-wise."

FACTORY WORKERS TO MEET TONIGHT

At the City Hall to Form Permanent Organization to Aid the Government—Mayor Issues a Letter to Industrial Workers.

Mayor Canfield has sent out letters to the factory employees in Kingston, urging their attendance at the meeting of the industrial workers of the city to be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the city hall for the purpose of talking over ways and means by which industrial workers can aid the government in the war.

This will be the second meeting held for that purpose, the first having been held two weeks ago. The evening was warm and, there were not many who attended, so the meeting was adjourned for two weeks.

In his letter the mayor deprecates efforts made to misrepresent his purpose in calling together representatives of the workers, and says that the injection of politics into a purely patriotic endeavor gives aid and comfort to the enemy. He states that the general purpose of the meeting will be to provide for the coordination of all war activities by means of an organization to be formed here to back up the boys in the service, many of whom come from our industrial plants.

A plan is suggested whereby the workers may obtain the latest war news each morning by means of bulletin boards.

The mayor proposes that a roll or tablet of honor be erected in connection with the city hall grounds for our boys who have gone and are going into the service. It would be paid for by popular subscription, each person giving a limited sum, such as from ten cents to one dollar.

To Pay Award.

At a special term of the supreme court held in this city August 14th, by Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck it was ordered that the Farmers Loan and Trust Company of New York pay Elizabeth Brown, Rose Hornbeck, Norman DeWitt, Bertha DeWitt, Henry DeWitt, Aner Davis, Peter DeWitt, John DeWitt, Ella Conner, Charles H. DeWitt, Fred DeWitt, Jennie M. DeWitt, Fannie Dantz, Emma Christiana and Henry DeWitt the sum of $84.37 the amount deposited to the credit of parcel 964—D. R. #### BOY SCOUT ACTORS.

One Hundred Wanted for Pageant at Woodstock.

A hundred Boy Scouts chosen from Woodstock and Kingston are desired by Robert Edson to take the part of American soldiers and rush in and throw down the Kaiser at the end of the war pageant at the Matheria festival on Thursday evening of this week.

It is hoped, however, that the Scout soldiers will not forget that the Kaiser is in this case Mr. Edson himself and that they will leave him in good time for the next day's work, as he is subject to call from the government any day either for work over there or wherever they see fit to employ him.

Mr. Edson is a man of remarkable capabilities and capacities. The management of the Matheria pageant is but a few days' pastime from his labors, but despite his busy schedule he has time for friends, as well as will be seen at the Matheria festival in the afternoon in cowboy costumes, with his young wife, as care free as the laziest of the frolickers.

HICKEY WANTS ONE NOT HARD, BUT ON THOSE WHO ENTRAIN DAY AT THE POINT LORD, HOW REGULAR AT NAPANOCH

Would Like to See Old Kingston
With All the Boys Gone to War—
Hot Weather in France.

Michael J. Hickey has received the following letter from his son, John J. Hickey, now in France:

On Active Service With the American Expeditionary Force,
July 18th, 1918.

Dear Father—Your letter of June 6th received yesterday and was very glad to hear from you. I am still enjoying perfect health over here. We are going through our warmest spell right now and believe me it's hot, too. It must be about 90 in the shade, too. But it gets cool enough for sleep.

Well Pop, I don't think that I will run across many of the boys that come from our town as we are pretty well split up over here. It's only by chance that I may run across some of the boys. Say, Pop, I didn't get those cigarettes yet, may be they are on their way. You know it takes time for packages to get here. Say Pop kindly let me know if you are getting my allotment from the government, because I allotted fifteen dollars before I left the states.

Well Pop I got a letter from Bernard Alcon yesterday and he said that he met the Sullivan boys. The Sullivan boys are getting along all right too. I heard about Kingston Point opening up. It must be a very lively place now that Uncle Sam has a good many of the young men. I bet Pop that the beach is deserted of the young men. I bet every time a young man passes along the beach and the streets of Kingston, why it's worth money to see him. Gee Pop I would like to be back home just for a day, just to see how the town looks without the young men in it. Well I guess I will dream about it some night and that will satisfy me very well.

I got two of your letters in one day, both dated June 6th. Well Pop, I will close with love to you and brother Mike. My regards to all my friends. I remain your loving son,
PRIVATE JOHN J. HICKEY,
Co. 19th, 1st Reg. Motor Mechanics,
Signal Corps, Air Division,
4th Battalion, A. E. F. via New York P. S.—Some time ago Pop I sent a letter to Eddie Ploskie, ask him if he received it and if he did why just tell him to drop me a line any how, just for old time sake.

VICTORY MENUS.

These menus, planned to conserve time, labor and money, to save the foods that are scarce, and use those of which there is an abundance, are Victory Menus in more senses than one. They are prepared by the Department of Home Economics of the State College of Agriculture and endorsed by the New York State Food Commission.

Wednesday.

Breakfast—Sliced bananas, corn dodgers; coffee made with milk.
Lunch or Supper—Kidney bean and pickle salad; wheatless bread; sliced peaches and cream.
Dinner—Lamb stew with carrots, onion and potatoes; *Indian and apple pudding.

Milk for the children to drink at each meal.

(*May be omitted and still leave balanced meal.)
Because of the starch which they contain, bananas may replace the cereal or potatoes in a meal. When you have bananas for breakfast, you do not need cereal too.

Kidney Bean and Pickle Salad.

Use ½ as much diced cucumber pickles as there are beans—by measure. Mix lightly in order not to mash beans. Place on lettuce or endive and serve with boiled salad dressing.

Indian and Apple Pudding.

Two cups cornmeal, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon soda, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 2 cups sour milk, 4 tablespoons molasses, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 3 medium-sized tart apples, sliced, 1 cup sweet milk, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 3 tablespoons corn syrup.

Sift together the dry ingredients, and add the milk and the molasses. Wash the apples but do not pare them. Cut them in small dice, and add them to the mixture. Turn it into a well-greased shallow pan, spread it with cinnamon and syrup mixed together, and pour the sweet milk over the top. Bake the pudding for 30 or 40 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve it with cream, fruit sauce or maple sauce.

Recipes for any of the dishes in these menus which cannot be found in cook books may be had by writing to the Department of Home Economics, State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.

Don't Forget to Register.

These men should consult with their local boards as to how and where they should register.

The following letter from a former employee, has been received by the Hon. George Washburn of this city:

American Expeditionary Force,
France, Aug. 1, 1918.

Dear Sir:—No doubt you think I have forgotten to write, but as a matter of fact I have been very busy ever since we reached here. We are not working so very hard but O Lord how regular.

Everything is going along fine and in our favor. The Kaiser is beginning to realize what the Yankees are, and what they can do. It will be only a matter of a short time and he will have to come across and hand it to the Yankees.

We are having very nice weather lately. At first I thought we weren't going to get any summer. Last Fourth was the coldest that I remember and also the most quiet Fourth that I ever spent. I was fortunate enough a couple of weeks ago to get off for a short while, and had a pleasant auto trip for about 90 miles each way, went through a couple of nice cities and the country places are beautiful.

I have already traveled a large portion of sunny France and Lord knows how much more of it I will see before we get back.

I am contented to be here a short while for you get experience with so many things that you wouldn't in the states.

I never was a hobo or knew what it was to ride freight cars, but since I have been here I have had a long journey in the so-called box cars or better known here as the horse cars, 30 men and 8 horses. When we were in the states and transferred to a different camp, if we didn't get Pullmans to ride in we thought we were used unjust, but here we are satisfied to ride in anything just so we can trim the Kaiser's moustache.

Will close with best wishes to you and Mrs. Washburn. Remember me to Peter and Fred.

I remain respectfully,

SERGEANT RALPH SACCOMAN,

Hdqrs. 514th Engrs.,
Annex Forces, via New York

Entertainment at Eddyville.

Great credit is due Miss Mildred French Page of Emerson College, Boston, Mass., for the howling success of the entertainment given in the M. E. Church at Eddyville, Thursday evening last. Patriotism, fun and seriousness all had its place at the right time. The singing of "America" aroused everyone to the sense of patriotism and put them in good spirits. Liberty Bell and Joan of Arc let us remember that while we were enjoying ourselves over here we were still hoping and looking for peace.

Long B.Y. by four little country girls was a scream and the encore was just as pleasing as the first. Lockinvar, a burlesque, too demands mention. The whole wedding scene was pretty, although funny, and the audience derived much laughter and fun from it. Much of the success of the entertainment was due to the efficient accompanist, Mrs. E. Loughran Elmendorf, who also rendered a piano solo very beautifully. Last, but not least, the selections by Miss Page were wonderful. Her whole thought is to please every body which she surely did. Her funny recitations were fine, but Les Miserable and L'Envoi were excellent. What more can be said. Her whole program was one grand mark of success. This was a big laugh. Come and have a bigger laugh August 29.

LUCKEY, PLATT & CO.

THE FURNITURE SALE THAT BRINGS THE GOODS THAT PEOPLE WANT WILL ALWAYS BE THE BEST SALE FOR THE PEOPLE.

If any proof of this statement were needed, it is supplied by the August Economist Sale which we are now holding. It is undoubtedly the sale that brings the goods that people want, and it brings them in the greatest quantities by far and at the most reliable savings. It is well known in the furniture trade that furniture must be first-class to be admitted to the Luckey, Platt & Company's store. Hundreds of manufacturers in this country know that this store has absolutely no use for any kind of furniture that will not uphold the name of the store for quality and reliability. There is no need to dwell further upon that point.

But anybody who needs furniture to any extent, from footstool to a complete outfit for a home, will be well pleased with this stock from which to make a selection.

There are thousands of dollars worth of stock in this sale backed up by our desire for 100 per cent satisfaction in pleasing our customers.

GERMANS TOLD TO HOLD ON DIE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Paris, Aug. 20.—"Hold Noyon and Lassigny at all costs."

This is the order that has passed from German Imperial Headquarters to commanders at both points—to hold Noyon and Lassigny, the capture of which by the Allies would force a speedy retreat of the Hunns all along the Noyon front.

In sending in the Prussian Guards to bolster up the fast weakening line, the choicest of picked Bavarian troops are selected. Crown Prince Rupprecht is using up all the shock troops he had reserved for the "grand offensive."

The Allied troops, however, refuse to be denied and there are many tales of extraordinary bravery and gallantry. Many officers, with only a handful of men, have captured a German trench. Once, thirty machine gunners were taken in this manner.

A. F. OF L. AGAINST DRAFTING LABOR

Secretary Morrison Says Amendment To New Man Power Bill Would Aid Unfair Employers.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 20.—The United States Steel Corporation and the Colorado Fuel Company are behind the proposed amendment to the new man power bill that would draft striking workmen in essential industries into military service. Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, charged this afternoon before the house military affairs committee.

Morrison was equally bitter in his denunciation of the corporation as he was of Senator Thomas for proposing the amendment.

"If this amendment should become a law," said Morrison, "it would simply furnish the unfair employer with an unfair weapon with which to intimidate the employee."

"Labor has kept faith with the government in the pledge it made to do all in its power to help win the war and it does not want the atrocious odium of being branded slackers cast upon American workmen as this amendment would do."

Members of the house military affairs committee, before Mr. Morrison began to address them, said that they themselves saw no reason why the amendment should be incorporated in the man power bill, especially since Secretary of War Baker had said that the war department did not regard it as necessary.

Senator Thomas admits the amendment is aimed at strikers," said Morrison. "It is an attack on the loyalty of the American laboring man which he resents and its adoption would give our Allies the impression that he is a slacker."

"When the war was declared," continued Morrison, "the laboring man wanted to fight, but the exigencies of industry demanded that he remain at work. He did not ask for labor. His employer asked for exemption."

"Will the government become a strike breaking agency? I believe not for the government is convinced of the loyalty and self sacrifice of American labor."

"There is hardly an American workman who does not think he would be better off in the trenches than in many industries where he is underpaid."

"Who has asked for this conscription of labor? Senator Thomas' action was prompted by strikes in Colorado—the strikes the Colorado Fuel Company has had—by the steel trust."

"Drag—the conspirators from behind the worst of war profiteers who would delight in holding up the workmen to the scorn of the world."

"The secretary of war has made it clear that he doesn't consider the amendment necessary and that is not a part of the war department's program," interposed Chairman Dent, of the committee, with emphasis.

"The secretary of war said he regarded the amendment as most unfortunate," said Morrison. "There is no necessity for this legislation. American labor is working, not slacking. This amendment means the conscription of labor. It would cast a reflection upon labor."

"In my judgment it is a mighty poor camouflage for what actually amounts to conscription of labor," remarked Representative Luna of New York. "It would place in the hands of the employer a constant threat to wield against the employee. It would lead to sedition."

JACKSON MANAGER OF BASEBALL TEAM

Gets 95 Per Cent in Artillery School Examination but Falls Down on French Language—Nothing to Worry About.

William Jackson, one of Kingston's colored soldiers now in the artillery training school in France, who was falsely reported wounded some time ago, writes to a friend as follows:

Dear Folks:—Just a line to let you know we haven't come over here to forget the folks back home. I think of you often and in my mind I see you every day. I am in the best of good health and the spirits. We landed over here after a very exciting but safe voyage and camped for three days at a rest camp, after which we took a three days' trip to our training camp and after a short time there I was selected to be sent to a training school at which place I am now. So far the situation here at school looks very favorable. I miss the rest of the home boys but we are getting used to having to leave those we are anxious to be with.

We are getting the best of good treatment, an issue of tobacco every ten days and a plenty of good food, some food and that alone is a big factor in keeping the boys in a settled mood and helping them to reach a high mark of efficiency in their studies. I used to think it would be a hard matter to write a letter back but I see my mistake for this has camp beat. With glee clubs, baseball, quarts and arguments of all nature.

I am manager of the baseball team here at school and we manage to mix a little of the great American sport with our studies to break the monotony. I feel pretty confident I will make good in the school also with the artillery. We had our first examination and I succeeded in getting 95 per cent on my paper. I like it and I am taking all manner of interest in it that I may get the best out of it. I am making out good as an artilleryman but very poorly as a Frenchman. I know only about seven words. We are not associated with the French people here at school but we will have time for that later. Just now there are so many other things more important and essential for the sake of the country we represent and for our personal benefit that I am trying to get first and probably by that time the French will come easier, if not, I should worry, for as soon as this little report is over "over here" back to the States for yours truly. France is nice, but oh, you dear old U. S. A. I miss you Kingston fellow here at training school—James Roe of East St. James street. He is well and doing fine at school. He is also chief mechanic in the Field Artillery. The rest of the home boys were fine when I left them at camp. I hear from them through the officers who come here to school and they say they are all getting along fine. There is nothing more cheering than a line from home. For the benefit of anyone who would care to write their address is the same as the one given here. Some of the boys have written very little on account of the strict censorship on outgoing mail.

I would like to write a lot of folks but on account of the amount of material we have to learn and memorize it sure takes all my time as we are to be returned to our batteries as instructors and must know our drill. So I am taking this way to let you hear from me. Just now what worries me is I have received no mail from the States. I am very anxious to know the news. I suppose by this time most of the boys have left town for camp to start their military career. It surely will do them a wonderful lot of good and make real men of them, although they will not realize it for a long time.

There is nothing here to worry about. I am only afraid the sport is going to break up before I get a crack. Nothing could be more cheering just now than a line from home. My best regards to all. Yours, CHIEF, MEC. WM. JACKSON, 349th Field Artillery, Battery D, American Expeditionary Forces France.

CLOUD EFFECTS.

Colorado-like Weather Brings Vivid Sky Pictures.

Cloud scenery is remarkably brilliant these nights with chilled air that gives to the flood of moonlight a radiance rarely experienced in the month of August. The effect is sharply impressive. The piling up of clouds that lay in bars parallel with the southwestern horizon Sunday night showed deep edges with bright silver inter and blackly from the depths earthward, for the time these clouds were intervening earth and moon.

When the sun Sunday had descended below the skyline of the Catskills there was presented a cloud-land of extraordinary design—interesting because of its likeness to a bit of terrestrial scenery. Well above the Catskill summit in the west by north appeared the picture realistic of a large projection of a cone. There was the natural rise of a mountain from the east summit of the ruins of a large castle, with a peaked hill farther back. There were the clearings and the forests, the semi-circular sweep of the slopes, the broad bay partially enclosed with precipitous, the stretch of water, the month of a stream, and almost a perfect representation of a steam trail. The perspective was startlingly accurate. Doubtless this scene attracted much of the people's attention as it did residents on Clifton avenue, and what was unusual the picture held for several minutes without any marked change by the moving clouds.

MAVERICK WAR PAGEANT.

Former Poughkeepsie Girl in One of Leading Roles.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edeson, who are residing on the Maverick near Woodstock this summer, and who are to assist at the Maverick pageant this week, the picturesque figures in the community.

Robert Edeson began his professional career many years ago as the leading man for the old Boston Museum, but is still young and alert in appearance. He takes his rest from a hard summer's work by staging and managing a war pageant for the Maverick festival, using as material the Woodstock artists, summer visitors and villagers and taking the title role of Willy (the Kaiser) himself.

Mrs. Edeson, who was Mary Newcome of Poughkeepsie, the daughter of Senator Josiah Newcome, and who will take the part of Belgium, has been influential in Ulster county politics, having the organization of the campaign for women's suffrage for two years in this region.

Miss Newcome has had three successful years on the New York stage, beginning in "His Brother's Keeper" then appearing as leading lady with Chauncey Olcott, and playing last season in "Sick Abed."

For the coming season she is engaged for a big Klaw & Erlanger production, with which she is already busy finding time, however, for a little Maverick respite in the rally of our allies in the war.

PACKED JURIES.

Port Jervis Man Sues When Called "Professional Juror."

Henry Hirschberg, district attorney of Orange county, N. Y., a candidate for re-election, has brought down a storm of opposition by his charges that the political leaders of the county have been "packing" juries to thwart justice.

The first result of his accusation is a suit filed Saturday by Fred Schwicker, Port Jervis, for $10,000 damages charging slander. Schwicker says that Hirschberg referred to him in a speech as a "professional juror." The district attorney announced yesterday that he has obtained a complete list of jurors who have served in various cases in Orange county for several years, and by this he expects to show that the politicians have wormed repeaters into jury boxes.

He declared that in county and supreme court cases jurors have been drawn from onlookers in the courtroom when the regular panel was exhausted, and these men have served illegally. Hirschberg is the son of former Justice M. H. Hirschberg of Brooklyn.

UNDERNEATH THE CITY HALL DOME

City Assessor Block has received word from the state tax department that all industrial corporations which have been previously assessed for personal taxes, and were last year eliminated by direction of the state board owing to the fact that the state has passed an income tax law making all corporations pay a certain percentage of their profits based upon the same report as made to the government, are to be again placed on the roll. The commission has reversed its direction and ordered all personal taxes of corporations remitted last year to be placed upon the city tax roll this year at the same valuations at which they were assessed before being eliminated from the tax roll by direction of the state tax board.

The city hall will be a busy place tonight with the public hearing on the gas question upstairs and downstairs a meeting of the factory workers to consider raising a fund to erect a suitable memorial for our boys in the world war and also to make arrangements for holding a parade when the news warrant holding one.

The police net caught no prisoners Monday night and no one was arraigned in police court this morning.

The world war is having a repressing effect on the work of little Mr. Cupid, for so far this year only 111 marriage licenses have been issued by City Clerk Doremus. As the average in other years has been 360 licenses it will be seen that for the remaining months of the year twice as many licenses will have to be secured to make up the usual average. It is estimated that there will be a falling off of at least a third in the number of marriage licenses issued this year as against previous years.

DEPOT CHANGES.

No Confirmation of Rumored Closing of Fair Street Extension.

Indefinite rumors of O. & W. trains running into the West Shore station in this city led to an inquiry of the passenger station agent of the O. & W. on Fair street, who stated that he would not have knowledge of such a move even if it were intended, any earlier than the city authorities or the newspapers. He had not heard a rumor of that sort. The new timetable which generally comes in September, is the subject of speculation, as is always the case, and he is familiar with the talk relative to combined freight terminals already accomplished. But, as to the running of O. & W. passenger trains down to the West Shore, he said, there is no way to account for such a rumor.

The O. & W. and the U. & D. are connected at the uptown station with what railroad men term an inter-changeable track. The combined passenger terminal service of the U. & D. and the O. & W. at Ontario is possibly what has started this rumor, for relatively the physical conditions are the same though otherwise such a change would be regarded as a crime against the business of the city of the Fair street extension.

The government policy with the railroad is economy in operation and more completely organized service. To run trains down to the West Shore and still maintain up town as a station would hardly be expected.
